

Leslie Peterson is a Graduate of Meredith College for women where she obtained a BA: Music -Piano. She is currently in her final semesters at Liberty University's School of Music pursuing a Masters of Art: Music and Worship.

As a Professional Musician Leslie has worked with non-profits to provide quality music education and music development to those who may not have access. She worked with the organization Voices Together as an accompanist. Voices Together's unique music therapy model empowers individuals to find their voice and create their own path in life. Leslie also served as a music teacher with Raleigh Community Music School as a Piano teacher. Raleigh Community Music School is non- profit committed to providing the full range of musical services and instruments to all underserved youth in Wake County, NC who do not have access or opportunity for music education.

Leslie brought her passion for piano and vocal music education to Bull City Music School. Leslie currently teaches Piano, Voice and serves as the Vocal director for Brown Sugar Sings and in support of the Founder of The Brown Sugar Music Project Jeanetta Powell. This Projects aims to hold space for Brown Girls to discover who they are. Through music this project encourages Brown young women to find their voices in a world where they are often silenced and marginalize. Music is the gateway, but the purpose is much greater. The Brown Sugar Music Project is the place where harmony meets empowerment.
